LESS STRIFE ON STREETS TODAY

Cossacks Patrol Roads And Close Factories In The Cities
Where Rioting Is Prevalent In Poland.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Warsaw, June 26.—The social democratic party did not succeed in bringing about a general strike today. Many of the factories are closed and some stores are affected, but the strike is far from general.

Patrol Streets
The strikers picketed the factories, in several instances shooting men who started to enter. The troops patrol the principal streets with orders to fire on the slightest provocation. No newspapers are published today.

Many Killed at Lodz

Lodz, June 26.—The casualties during the riots are estimated today at 501 killed and 700 wounded, many of them seriously. Gen. Schultze, who was placed in command of the troops, declares order has been restored.

An Armed Camp

The city this morning presents the appearance of an armed camp. The troops hold the streets and no citizens are permitted to leave their homes without a permit. A state of siege has been declared. All the factories and stores are closed.

At Warsaw

St. Petersburg, June 26.—A message from Warsaw says the Jewish quarter is now in full revolt. The street cars were overturned to form barricades. A repetition of the Lodz massacre is expected at Warsaw. Thirty-four battalions of troops are stationed in that city. At Czenstochau last night a bomb was thrown at the chief of police riding in a carriage. An officer and seven civilians were seriously injured.

Warsaw, June 26.—As a protest against the brutality of the military in the massacre at Lodz the social democratic party here has issued a revolutionary proclamation declaring a general strike.

The proclamation says the red flag, the flag of the workingmen, must float over the streets and that all factories and shops must close. The order provides that all traffic must cease because of the "new and incessant" times" of the czar's government. The proclamation says:

Plead for Red Flag.
"In order to show solidarity with our brothers at Lodz, we protest against the new and incessant crimes of the czar's government. Warsaw must stop work. Monday not a single factory or workshop shall work. All offices, banks, shops, restaurants and coffee houses must close. All traffic must cease. Monday the red flag, the workingmen's flag, must float over the streets of Warsaw. Workmen, help your brothers arrange a general strike."

Cossacks Murder a Servant.
Five prominent citizens of Lodz telegraphed to Gen. Shutsoff, commanding troops in that city, asking for protection from the brutality of the soldiers, especially Cossacks, who are continuing their ruthless slaughter. A particular instance is cited of Cossacks killing and robbing the servant of a millionaire named Rosenblatt, who was carrying a thousand rubles to the bank. Gen. Shutsoff promised to punish the culprits. He said he would require the testimony of witnesses.

Family of Five Killed.

Sunday morning, in a suburb of Balty, Cossacks attacked a Jew family of five persons who were going in a cab to the railway station. All were shot and killed, as well as the driver.

The inhabitants are fleeing for their lives, believing no one is now safe from the violence of the military. Today 12,000 persons left Lodz. All trains leaving the city were crowded to their utmost capacity.

The military is patrolling the streets in the factory and Jewish districts. In the suburbs of Praga workmen shot and wounded two policemen.

In Ogrodowa street there was an encounter between gendarmes and a crowd, and shots were fired on both sides. Three civilians and one gendarme were wounded. In other streets processions of workmen were dispersed.

UNIVERSITY CREW AT POUGHKEEPSIE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Wisconsin aquatic enthusiasts remaining at Madison while the Badger university eight is in the east to try conclusions with the oarsmen there in the great intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson river next Saturday are praying for rough water, just the kind that brought disaster to the western boys last year. A year ago Wisconsin sent east the strongest crew in her history and the cardinal finished in last place far behind the procession. The reason assigned was that the Wisconsin boat nearly swamped in the rough water. This year the Badgers are equipped particularly against such conditions. The western shell is a new one built higher than any other craft that will race Saturday and is provided with a new bailing pump, so that if any shell in the contest ships water the Badger boat will finish the course high and dry. This shell is a trifle heavier by reason of this special equipment, but it was ordered so by Coach O'Dea, who determined not to be caught, again with the boat half full of water. Opinion at the home of the Badgers prevails in favor of a victory for Cornell, but it is whispered that O'Dea has kept the strength of Wisconsin in the dark in the hope of springing a surprise and taking second place. Some critics who have followed the training all season declare with assurance that Cornell will not finish four lengths ahead of the Badgers. It transpires that the Wisconsin crew rowed the four-mile Lake Mendota course in seven seconds faster time than it has ever been rowed by any crew here before, but Coach O'Dea would not let this fact be known. The Wisconsin crew is greatly under-rated. It is said, and a good showing is confidently expected.

CIRCUS-CREW SUSPECTED OF APPROPRIATING A BULL-DOG

Contemporaneous with the brief visit of a Forepaugh-Sells circus advertising car in Janesville last week, Charles Carpenter of the European hotel missed a valuable white bull-dog of blooded stock. It was claimed that one of the bill-posting crew was seen taking the canine aboard and City Marshal Comstock, upon notification, telegraphed the police authorities at Elgin to seize the animal if it was found to be in the possession of the circus men when they arrived there. Word has been received that the dog was seized at Elgin and will be returned by express.

INDICTED MEN WILL HAVE TO SHOW JURY

Case Against Officials Charged with Bribery Being Tried in True Missouri Style.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Jefferson City, June 26.—The trials of Senator Frank Farris and ex-Senator Charlie Smith charged with bribery were begun here today before Judge Martin, and the case of former Lieut. Governor John A. Lee continued in the perjury charges against him. The State is especially anxious to secure a conviction in one of these cases, and it has been suggested that Former Lieutenant Governor Lee could be used as a witness against either Farris or Smith, but it is stated that in the present state of affairs the State has no reason to believe that it could rely upon Lee, because of the politics involved in the prosecution as well as the extreme desire of each of the three indicted legislators to free himself from the predicament in which he finds himself placed. Governor Folk has taken a personal interest in the trials and is understood to be giving his individual assistance to the prosecuting attorney.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Asheville, N. C., June 26.—The case of H. H. EXEMPT CLASS TO BE FAVORED

Chinese Merchants, Travelers And Students
Are To Be Treated With Courtesy.

ORDER COMES FROM ROOSEVELT

President Confers With Secretary Metcalf Who Afterwards
Issues Instructions To The Custom House Officials.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Washington, June 26.—Under President Roosevelt's direction action has been taken by the government which not only will facilitate the landing in this country of Chinese of the exempt classes, but will also eliminate from the immigration bureau such administrative features as have been the subject of criticism by Chinese. It is the declared intention of the president to see that Chinese merchants, travelers, students, and others of the exempt class shall have the same courtesy shown them by officers of the immigration bureau, as is accorded to citizens of the most favored nation.

Acts to Prevent Boycott.

Representations have been made to the president that, in view of alleged harsh treatment accorded to many Chinese seeking a landing in the United States, the commercial guilds of China have determined to institute a boycott on American manufactures. The representations are backed by the authority of the American Asiatic society and commercial bodies throughout the country, induced by the President to make an investigation of the situation, with a view to remedying the evils complained of if they are found to exist. As a result of the inquiry orders have been issued to the diplomatic and consular representatives of the United States in China.

by the president himself, that they must look closely to the performance of their duties under the exclusion law and see to it that members of the exempt classes coming to this country are provided with proper certificates. These certificates will be accepted at any port of the United States.

Fair Treatment for Chinese.
In addition to the president's orders, Secretary Metcalf has issued instructions to the immigration officers, which, it is believed, will remedy the difficulty heretofore complained of by the Chinese government and individuals. It is anticipated that the prompt action taken by this government to meet the objections made by the Chinese will eliminate the possibility of serious trade difficulties between China and the manufacturers of this country.

These orders are supplied by a letter to the president from Secretary Metcalf, setting out the provisions of law under which the bureau of immigration operates in relation to Chinese immigrants and by the new instructions issued to immigration officers regarding their treatment of Chinese who may come to the United States. The president and Secretary Metcalf believe that the instructions will insure to Chinese the same fair and courteous treatment that is accorded to people of other nationalities.

THE COST OF LIVING HAS INCREASED MATERIALLY

Prices Show Steady Tendency To Climb Higher—Farm Products Are Also Up.

Washington, June 26.—Prices of fuel, clothing and practically all food products are constantly increasing, according to a bulletin just issued by the bureau of labor, covering the period from 1890 to 1904. In the early '90s prices were very high, but in the last four years they have been steadily increasing until now they are relatively higher than in 1892. The period of lowest prices was from 1894 to 1897. The lowest price of beef was in April, 1896, when the best choice was quoted at $3.85 to $4.25 per hundred. The highest price was the latter part of August, 1902, when the price touched $7.60 to $9 per 100 pounds. Corn was lowest in 1896 and highest in 1892.

In a table of comparison, in which the average price for the years 1890 to 1899 is taken as a base, sixteen articles of farm production, including sheep, cattle, hay, hogs, hides and grain, are enumerated. All except

MURDER AT ELKHORN.

An Officer Shoots One of His Former Command.

About 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, a terrible tragedy was enacted at Elkhorn, resulting in the death of a man named Shay. The circumstances as related to us are that a Captain Perry, lately of the Third cavalry, saw a man passing along the street, who formerly belonged to his command, when he called to him and as he turned about fired at him with a revolver. The first shot went through the clothes of Shay, when he started to run; the next shot penetrated his left lung, and the third shot struck him in the neck. The wounded man survived only about 15 minutes. A number of companions of the murdered man were in town, and Perry was only lodged in jail in time to save him from lynching. The reasons assigned for the deed are that Shay had threatened him with revenge when he was out of service, and he took this method to protect himself. It seems, however, that the murdered man was quietly about his own business, and had not made the slightest demonstration against Perry.

two layers held apart with a "filling" of lilacs and cherries. Contrasting greatly in its simplicity is a band of magenta ribbon velvet tied around the crown, necktie fashion, constituting the only trimming above the brim. Lilacs figure prominently among the fashionable hat trimmings and not only are they combined with fruits, but other flowers, lilacs and American roses resulting in a particularly charming effect. For an all-white hat lilacs and lilies of the valley are pretty, while combined with bluish pink roses they make a lovely hat trimming when a touch of color is desired.

The lavender tulle and linen suits which are so much worn this summer are responsible for a number of delightful hats in the same shade. A model which attracted much attention was seen a few afternoons ago in one of the fashionable thoroughfares. The hat was of finest straw, turned up abruptly at the back and at the left side; it was narrow in both the right side and the front. Narrow purple velvet ribbon formed a few loops, but flat white roses without foliage were the principal trimmings. A small round bunch of these flowers showed on the edge of the narrow front brim and masses of them were crushed against the upturned back and left side.

Black hats are more fashionable than ever both for dressy and general wear. Nothing prettier has been seen this season than a round black French sailor of finely braided straw, having the crown completely submerged beneath a mass of American beauty roses and the bandeau covered with loops of pale blue velvet ribbon. The trimming was simple but the quaintness of elegance and the design is one that might be copied very successfully.

The lace straws are among the costly black hat models, but they are worth the expenditure over and over in chic and originality. A moderately large affair is quite openwork and has the frame outlined with satin straw, with black silk net between. The brim is turned up in irregular dents and large white camellias with very scant foliage are arranged around the front and sides of the crown. At the left side is a pulled into many loops, each loop being bowled into folds, the ends forming oval and caught-down terminations. This bow has its center fastened on the edge of the upturned left brim and the loops are so placed as to half cover the entire left side, both brim and crown.

The time of the sailor is here and although no radical departures have been made as regards its shape and trimming, it is yet an exceedingly smart bit of millinery. There are several different smart straws, roughed and pressed, braided and twisted. A simple band of gros grain ribbon, or a plain scarf may form the trimming, but the best taste clings to the simple black or white band.

Yachting and outing hats are made of linen, pique, panama straw and other pliable materials. For general wear the pique turbans holds its own very well, but it has become almost too common to carry over into another season. The horsehair or "crin" hats, as they are more popularly called are a charming finish for a soft mull of silk flock, especially when they have the "all-the-way-round" brims. These brims are laden with garlands of flowers, combined with bunches of ribbon, or bunches of ostrich tips.

Ribbons have surrendered nothing of its popularity to other trimmings as a smart hat decoration and as the season advances popular approval inclines rather to the beautiful flowered effects of the Dresden and pompadour silks for this purpose.

In reckoning up successes in life, poor and humble are the ones we are inclined to ignore. THE ROSE MAIDEN

In this charming picture the hat, the coiffure dressing, the decollete trimming are all of ribbons deftly manipulated into flower shapes. The hat is one of those simple shepherdess shapes in a satin straw braid of a burnt tint, the one that matches the pongee silks somewhat in coloring. The roses are all fashioned of a pink satin ribbon, the tints being chosen and worked in to follow the natural shadings. The artificial-flower maker's stock is called upon to furnish foliage, stems and calyx, this lending an air of verisimilitude to the finished work. The wreath of roses encircles the crown of the hat, a bunch of buds is perched upon the bandeau and a similar knot, with sprays of velvet maidenhair, is tucked in at the side of the low coiffure after the hair net has been deftly adjusted. All of spray that surrounds the foliage and maiden hair fern lending an air of lightness and grace to the entire design, one hat cannot fail to be bewitchingly coming to a youthful wearer.

PARIS FASHION NOTES

If lilacs bore fruit, as millinery, the manner of smart French hat, the fruit would be cherries, rich luscious berries in varying shades of red—and the bushes would bear flowers and fruit simultaneously. At least such is the idea that might be drawn from some of the displays of hats shown in the rue de la Paix and other fashionable centers. The combination is a charming one, however, and for variety no hat trimming could be selected more entitled to popular approval. One of the chapeaux so trimmed is a wide-brimmed affair, on the Saturday arranged in

MRS. ROGERS' VICISSITUDES.

In every land, until late years the ingenuity of man has been exerted and indeed tasked to invent methods of executing criminals and others in ways sufficiently torturing to satisfy the public taste, says the Chicago Chronicle.

On one side of the globe the Indian tied his victim to a tree and slowly dissected him until he died. On the other side the Chinese had a habit of putting criminals to death by slicing the flesh from their bones. Another Chinese method of execution was by deprivation of sleep. A guard was put over the victim with instructions to stick a sword into him every time he fell asleep. Even these barbarities were merciful compared with some other modes of execution which deface the pages of history.

It has always been considered a sign of advancing civilization when cruelties of various kinds and especially those connected with the execution of law were reduced in number and severity.

One of the first amendments made to the federal constitution was a prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishments," and one of the latest concessions to the spirit of the age is the abolition of "slicing" as a punishment for crime. Even Russia, a country usually regarded as inhumanly cruel, has long since abolished the death penalty except for treason.

Our own country is not much given to punishing crime by any method, but the case of Mrs. Rogers, now under sentence of death in Vermont, shows how a person may be tortured under the Stars and Stripes, if not under a sentence, still under the forms of law. For a whole year this wretched woman has oscillated between the certainty of death and the certainty of life. It has been just as if she were certain on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of being hanged and certain on the intervening days of the week of being sent to the penitentiary.

One of the latest pieces of news from the state penitentiary where she is confined is to the effect that she saw her attorney approaching her cell and exclaimed with ever demonstration of joy, "Now I am going to be free," but was immediately informed by him that she would certainly be hanged on the following Friday, and fell over nearly dead from the shock. This is a sample of what her experience has been for the last twelve months. Her hope has been first in the petty jury, then in the judge, then in an appeal, then in the governor, then in a writ of habeas corpus and then in the governor again.

Her last experience is a reprieve, which has raised her hopes once more of a commutation or a pardon. Between them all she has suffered a hundred times as much as she would from being hanged by the neck until she was dead.

Mrs. Rogers no doubt committed a cold-blooded murder, but we submit the query whether she has not been hanged enough. Is she not entitled to her freedom under the constitution, which prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments?"

FREE ADVERTISING.

The demand for free advertising is in extent, persistence and ingenuity beyond the belief of any but those who have had experience in the business. A man who would never think of going into a grocery store and requesting the proprietor to donate a barrel of flour or into a shoe store and telling the owner that if he has no objection he thinks he'll help himself to a pair of shoes, will walk confidently into a newspaper office and prefer his request for several dollars worth of free advertising and feel mightily offended if refused.

The newspaper proprietor expects to furnish a certain amount of free advertising to religious, charitable and public enterprises. If he didn't he would be looked upon as a heartless, hard hearted, mercenary, lacking in public spirit. His public spirit, his contribution is accepted as a matter of course, and rarely is he accorded a word of thanks. "Why, it's news, isn't it; and you don't charge for news, do you?" is the reply if a charge is suggested. A newspaper has space for news matters, but there is a line which should be drawn between news and advertising, and every newspaper man is wrestling with the problem.

PRESS COMMENT.

Chicago Tribune: In Milwaukee the grafters seem to be as thick as hops.

El Paso Herald: The bicycle is as popular as ever in England, but then the British are just effete enough to insist on having good roads.

Milwaukee News: With home-grown strawberries in the market, there's no getting away from the irrefutable fact that Wisconsin is a mighty good state.

Eau Claire Leader: For once a theatrical manager has underrated the public sense of decency. The man who undertook to star Nan Patterson has failed.

Oshkosh Northwestern: And now there will be a scramble among some of the ladies of the state for that new position which has been opened for one of their number on the state board of control.

Chicago Record-Herald: It appears that the Equitable has been paying salaries of $25,000 a year to dead men. The Equitable pay roll may justly be listed among the greatest of the world's wonders.

Menasha Record: The fellows out at Madison have arranged it so that the fellows who take the state census will have to scratch to make $3 a day. Evidently the job was not intended as one of the rewards.

Chicago Chronicle: A casual perusal of Thomas W. Lawson's latest contribution to current literature strengthens the conviction that his literary style is based upon a profound study of the works of Marie Bashkirtseff, Mary MacLane, and the late George Francis Train. It is remarkable.

Atchison Globe: A policeman found a hotel guest roaming about the streets in his sleep a few nights ago. He started to lead the man to jail, when the stranger protested. "I am guilty of no wrong-doing," he said. "I am a somnambulist." "It don't make no difference what church you belong to," returned the officer. "You can't do no walking on these streets in your shirt tail."

Christian Work: Two dudes visited the zoo in Boston. With cigarettes in their mouths they stopped at the cage of a mother anthropoid ape with her young ones. Pointing to the family of anthropoids, one dude said to the other: "That is what you came from." And they laughed heartily. The mother ape called her children aside and, pointing to the dudes, said: "My children, that is what you are coming to." And she wept bitterly.

Exchange: Miss Katherine Noyes of Milwaukee is accorded this year the much-sought distinction of being the handsomest girl in Smith college, Northampton, Mass. Miss Lucy McDonald of Princeton, N. J., is reputed the most diplomatic. The striking beauty of Miss Noyes, who is of the Gibson type, was a matter of comment by hundreds who attended the commencement exercises. Miss Noyes was by many considered the star of the senior dramatics, her impersonation of a man's part as Orlando in "As You Like It" being marked by dash, spirit and good taste.

New York Press: The latest gastronomic joy is planked chicken. It is the discovery—or invention—or evolution—of the chef of an uptown club, and it is calculated to stimulate anew the jaded summer appetite. Not only this, but as a color symphony the broiler leads both his brothers of the plank—shad and beefsteak. When done in tones of golden brown and surrounded by billows of creamy potatoes fringed with crisp, dark green oress, he might almost be worn by some brown-eyed maiden as a spring hat. At any rate, he suggests a very good color tone even for her, while at the same time serving as the special triumph of a dainty luncheon.

Exchange: Charles F. Murphy, head of Tammany Hall, is now quite as great a nabob as his predecessor, Richard Croker. He moved to his new country place down on Long Island a few days ago, carrying with him all the accessories of social greatness—a string of horses, two automobiles, a yacht, a troop of servants, and many other things regarding which he did not even dream twenty years ago, when he was conductor on a horse car. Said one who has known him for many years: "He does not need a knife when he eats his pie nowadays, and it is said that he can make a salad dressing all by himself. Croker never made such progress in the time."

Brooklyn Eagle: Once in a while, after saying "Hello" a dozen times and getting only a rumble in reply, people cried anathema on the telephone, but it remains for the German Baptist conference in Indianapolis to formally denounce that instrument as an invention of the devil, to be taken forthwith from the houses of all members of the conference and never more to be used by the church. The conference declares that there is no warrant for the telephone in scripture, hence it is unworthy of Christian patronage.

For people who are determined to live the simple life, if not the easy life this is a comforting conclusion. It can be applied to various other things that add to the activity and harassment of our days. There is not a word of permission in the bible to use printing presses, elevators, firecrackers, patent medicines, steamboats, trolley cars, Standard oil, gum shoes, boiled shirts, hat racks or soft coal, and by dispensing with such things we could all live in less of a noise and clutter and have more time to soar. Let's.

Texas' Big Opening.

La Crosse Chronicle: Texas will open for general purchase next September a tract of land embracing some 6,000,000 acres. This land has until now been leased to cattlemen. It will be sold in parcels of from one to eight sections (a section is a square mile) at $1 per acre to purchasers who will live upon the land at least three years. The obvious intent is to secure a land of agricultural residents. The tract thus placed on the market has an area of some 9,400 square miles. That is to say, it is equivalent to more than four times the area of Delaware, twice that of Connecticut, and is larger than Massachusetts, New Hampshire, or New Jersey. Texas still has some 12,000,000 acres of similar land. When that also is sold the total area placed in the way of direct occupation by owners will be as great as that of the last-named three states, with Delaware thrown in. Of course it may be many years before the occupants of this area will be as numerous or as prosperous as the residents of even the least settled of the states mentioned, but the comparison throws a good deal of light on the undeveloped resources of our country.

Publicity the Policeman.

"The modern newspaper is useful to society in turning the light of publicity on the doings, good and bad, of men. It is rare that suppression of news serves good ends, and often when under influential pressure this is done, a cruel wrong is done the public." Some years ago the State Journal suppressed a court record of a betrayal case. Some months later two parents were shocked to learn that the day of the wedding ceremony that they were to give their daughter to a man whom honor called in another direction. It was the man whom the newspapers had failed to properly tag for the protection of the community. The foregoing is an extract from an address delivered by Amos P. Wilder, editor of the Madison State Journal, who is to deliver an address in Fond du Lac in the near future. Mr. Wilder's attitude towards the suppression of news is the bane of the newspaper profession. Scarcely a day passes that the editor does not receive a request to suppress something. This is especially true of news of the above character. The argument is always made that if the matter becomes public the innocent will suffer with the guilty, but it is generally evident that the guilty are more concerned about their own reputation than they are about the feelings of the innocent. Publicity is the best policeman of the age. The fear of it prevents more offenses than the law detects.

CHARACTER READING.

Green eyes betoken courage, pride and energy.

Deep-set eyes receive impressions accurately, definitely and deeply.

Black eyes show a peppery disposition, and be sometimes, though not always, treacherous.

Great thinkers have gray eyes, for gray is the color of talent and shrewdness, but these generally indicate a better head than heart.

Men have light eyes oftener than women, but the percentage of brown and hazel eyes, neither pure light nor genuine dark, is very nearly the same in both sexes.

Light clear blue eyes denote a ready and great capacity; also sensibility of character, but their owner is difficult to manage, jealous, inquisitive and fond of enjoyment.

Round eyed persons live much in the senses, but are not such great thinkers, although they see much. Narrow eyed people see less, but think more and feel with greater intensity.

Now as to color. The hazel eyed woman never tells too much or too little, never descends to scandal, prefers her husband's comfort to her own, and is shrewd, intellectual and loving.

HEAVY RAINS INSURE

CANADIAN WHEAT CROP

Average Yield of Thirty Bushels to the Acre is Expected in Southern Alberta.

Calgary, Canada, June 25.—In the last few days all southern Alberta has enjoyed copious rains. The rains were so heavy and so general as to insure a magnificent crop even if there should be no more rain this season. Farmers and merchants are correspondingly jubilant.

It is now regarded as possible that the yield of winter wheat per acre will exceed thirty bushels on the average. If that is the case, nearly 1,000,000 bushels of winter wheat will be raised in southern Alberta this summer, thus establishing the claim of the district to be one of the most remarkable winter wheat districts in the world.

With another bumper crop apparently assured, it is thought, here that immigration from the States next year will far exceed the enormous influx of this year, which has made whole townships look like a piece of Iowa or Illinois transplanted.

Rivers Are Outcasts.
Prof. Charles W. Gould of Oklahoma University is authority for the statement that the name Cimarron, borne by one of Oklahoma's characteristic streams, is a Mexican word derived from the Apache language. It means outcast or wanderer and was first applied to an old Apache Indian, who left his tribe and settled on the headwaters of this stream.—Kansas City Times.

FAVORABLE YEAR FOR THE BIG MOSQUITOES

No Race Suicide in This Section of the Animal Kingdom at Least.

There are indications of a full crop of bugs and insects throughout the northwest, whatever the other crop reports may be. Mosquitoes head the list and are quoted strong. The wet weather is bringing them out in great numbers to increase those already here. Every tablespoonful of water standing for twelve days may produce several hundreds of the little pests. This fact makes the future look black indeed—with mosquitoes. Already the stinging is running low and sandalwood sticks are in demand. Wisconsin is deemed fortunate that there is no malaria here, for we have numbers of the malaria-carrying mosquitoes—Anopheles—here. A slight outbreak anywhere might at once be spread far and wide.

In spite of the outlook nothing has been done in this vicinity to combat the pest, neither of the two well-known remedies having been put into effect. Of these the more effective in a limited area is covering all stagnant water with a thin coating of crude oil. On a large tract this is not practicable, but the alternate course—a complete drainage—is of great value, says the professor.

Along with the mosquitoes have appeared many other insects. Of great interest to farmers is the ring worm, which is damaging wheat in places. Cut worms and currant worms are on hand as usual, while leaf hoppers are not unknown.

Dispatches from New York report an immense swarm of flies in England and the eastern states which may equal the famous plagues of Egypt. The fly would be a plague worse than the mosquito on account of its superior disease-bearing powers. He circulates busily from the sick room to the dining room or kitchen, and carries infection with him. His feet and body are covered with minute hairs—thousands of them—which may he may go, which is practically everywhere. The terrible outbreak of typhoid in the army in 1898 is traceable directly to flies.

One particular breed of fly which, in another way, is causing a good deal of damage, is the cabbage root fly, which is destroying cabbage and cauliflower to a great extent. It lays its eggs in the cabbage or on the ground near it. In due time these hatch out into hungry caterpillars which do much harm. The remedy for these has been discovered and is very efficacious. A carbolic acid emulsion thoroughly sprayed on kills the flies and larvae without injuring the plant, home.

Mr. Crolius has stirred the Illinois city up very much. It was Not Baseball? The Beloit Free Press asks the following question which can best be answered by the young men who played the old game of "Andy Over" at Clinton yesterday: The Clinton K. of P. baseball team defeated the Janesville Sir Knights by a score of 22 to 2. My, but what would happen to the county scores if they accept an invitation of the Beloit lodge to play ball tomorrow's event at Link? There will be a golf links tomorrow afternoon. Those entering are requested to leave their names with J. P. Baker some time before tomorrow noon in order that the handicaps may be fixed.

FRED RANKIE FOUND JUST WEST OF CITY

Insane Man, Who Recently Escaped from County Asylum, Recovered Yesterday.

Fred Rankie, the insane man who has recently been receiving much notoriety by escaping twice from the county asylum, was recovered for the second time yesterday. He was located on the A. F. Church farm west of the city and returned to his home. It seems he had started to stroll toward Mineral Point, but giving up that project, came back over the same route by which he had departed for Saturday when he was seen about a mile north of Rockville by a traveler. At that time Rankie was walking along the edge of grain fields just off the road. He was engaged in picking wild berries and his clothes were torn, doubtless from contact with wire fences. The traveler attempted to talk with him but Rankie only mumbled a few words in broken German and started off across the fields as if pursued. He is now enjoying the hospitality of Rock county.

AND NOW IT'S CHICO CIGARS

Interesting Talk by Cigar Drug Co. on What Makes a Cigar Popular.

The remarkable success of Wadsworth Bros. Chico cigar in getting into the mouths of smokers in Janesville is astonishing.

Less than a year ago the Chico was unknown here. Today it is the most popular cigar in Smith Drug Co.'s large stock.

"Advertising alone will not make a cigar popular," said Mr. Smith. "A cigar must be good to meet with a sale in this city. I do not know of a town where the smokers are as discriminating as they are in Janesville, and the fact that they have made Wadsworth Bros. Chico their favorite, speaks volumes for its quality. While it sells for 1c, it is better than the average ten cent, so that it reaches all classes of smokers. It is an all long Havana filler cigar, and a good one, that I am glad to recommend to any customers."

OPEN WAY TO LAKE FOR THE LAUNCHES

Geo. McKee and F. F. Pierson Build a Boat Wagon to Carry Largest Launches Around Dam.

A through waterway for gasoline launches from Janesville to Ft. Atkinson was established by F. F. Pierson and George McKee yesterday. The Indian Ford dam has long been the obstacle which marked the furthermost limit for that kind of navigation, so far as Janesville seafaring men were concerned. Until this time they have yearned for the wide waters of Lake Koshkonong, talked about constructing a lock, and all has ended in talk. The two local men have solved the problem so far as the immediate present is concerned. They have secured a strongly-built boat-wagon, with low, heavy wheels. This is pushed down into the water and the under the dam that is to be transferred. Simple devices are provided for making the boat fast and when all is ready a team of horses is hitched to the wagon tongue and up out of the stream and over the hill to the port of the stream above the dam goes the launch. The unloading process is quite as simple as the loading and the entire work is done in 3 half hours. Suitable landing places for the overland journey have been found both above and below the dam. There is an ulterior motive behind the enterprise. The two Janesville men believe that as long as no communication is established there is likely to be no insistent demand for it. But once such a thing is inaugurated, however crude, launch-owners will take advantage of it and becoming accustomed to the larger possibilities for navigation thus afforded, will come to regard what was before an impossibility, as a necessity. Once this attitude is reached, there will be a growing demand for improved methods in the methods of transference and the dream of a lock may be realized.

CITY FATHERS IN SESSION TONIGHT

Usual Routine Business Will Be Discussed—Nothing New or Startling Promised.

Nothing of a startling nature is promised for the session of the city council this evening. The sewer extension contract will be let, the bids of the banks for the use of the city money during the ensuing fiscal year opened and passed upon, and the regular routine business transacted. It is possible that Ald. Jackman's ordinance imposing additional restrictions by way of amendment to the ordinance relating to the method of certifying accounts and issuing city orders, will be called up for its third reading and passage. Alderman Fish may have something more to report on the proposed work of labeling the streets of Janesville with appropriate signs. Two notices of damage will be brought to the attention of the city fathers and the judiciary committee may report their findings on a third one that has been before them for consideration for two weeks past.

CONVENTION ENDS SUNDAY EVENING

GATHERING AT EDGERTON WAS A VERY SUCCESSFUL ONE.

BRILLIANT SPEAKERS THERE

Much Valuable Work Accomplished—Bits of Personalities from the Tobacco City.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, June 26.—The convention of the Janesville District Epworth League which closed its sessions Sunday evening was one of the very best since its organization. The attendance has been large—140 delegates—and would have been much larger had the Edgerton chapter been able to provide entertainment for them. The district officers diverted from the usual custom of having papers and essays and prepared for this meeting some of the strongest speakers—Dr. Robert Forbes, Philadelphia; Dr. Sheets, Corbes; Dr. James McDonald, Chicago; Deaconess Evangeline Grubbe, Milwaukee; Rev. M. L. Eversz, Watertown.

Heard Reports

Reports were received from twenty-four chapters, showing all the work in a healthy condition. On Saturday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year for the district:

The Officers

Pres.—Rev. M. L. Eversz, Watertown.

1st V. P.—Miss Hazel North.

2d V. P.—Miss Alice Millan, Milton.

3d V. P.—Miss Maud Scott, Sharon.

4th V. P.—Miss Lillie Taylor.

Sec.—Miss Eberly.

Treas.—Arthur Roadhouse, Beloit.

Junior Supt.—Miss Mae Turner, Dowers.

Dr. Forbes

The lecture "Saturday evening by Dr. Forbes was one of uplifting interest and mindful suggestions. He brought out the old-time standards of truth, integrity and religion and thereby determined a man's worth. These are things that are unmeasurable but their possession gives the man a value all his own. They are the main springs of actions and deeds which live on as a blessing to those who follow, after the worker has gone to his reward. Not by the total of dollars and cents a man may possess can we judge "how much is he worth," but by the good he has done. The former he must leave behind but his noble deeds will be gems in his crown in glory.

Open-Air Meeting

The open-air meeting Sunday evening was abandoned on account of the bad weather. Dr. McDonald gave two fine sermons—morning and evening—that stirred the hearts of his hearers. The answer to his evening subject, being found in the verse John 3:10: "The Longest Rope" to heaven.

Home Health Club

By DAVID H. REEDER, Ph. D., M. D.
LA PORTE, IND.

Some time ago I wrote a chapter about cheerfulness, and in one of the club books there is a whole chapter upon the relationship between cheerfulness and longevity. I wish every reader of this paper would read that chapter.

Personally and generally I have no patience with pessimists, and especially with the sort that are continually howling about the degeneracy of the times, the increase of disease, the retrogression of the human race, and the terrible increase of crime. I am going to talk somewhat plainly, and if I step on anybody's toes he'd better keep his toes under cover, for when I am in earnest I stand about six feet tall and weigh about 170 pounds.

I want to say, and say it emphatically, that such talk is untrue! Disease is not on the increase, the human race is not degenerating, nor is crime on the increase. On the contrary, exactly the opposite condition prevails at the present day and age of the world, and anyone of good judgment and the ability to make even a superficial examination can easily prove it.

Why is it, let me ask you, dear club readers, that the daily papers employ agents in every quarter of the globe to seek out and send to them all of the horrible details of crime? Now, you say that is a conundrum that cannot be answered instantly: the pessimist will at once say that the condition of the people is so depraved that they demand sensational news. Wrong my friend, wrong, all wrong! What makes sensational news? Will you answer that? "Ah, there's the rub."

When you answer that you must admit defeat. Sensational news must of necessity come from that which is out of the ordinary, must be something of rare occurrence. If crime were as common as goodness, acts of devotion and self-sacrifice, would cause no comment whatever—would not be sensational—would not be news.

During the early days of a mining town upon the frontier, and before the towns are organized, lawlessness is the order of the day, robbery and even cold-blooded murder cause no excitement, because they are more common than deeds of goodness. But let a few mining camp desperadoes drop into New York and kill only one citizen on the streets in broad daylight and the act would be telegraphed all over the world in a few hours.

During the sixteenth century a prominent man, wife, daughter or son, might be kidnapped and held for ransom without causing much comment outside the immediate family circle and friends, but the daring work done a few years ago at Omaha in that line creates consternation over all the civilized world. Why? Because it is the second successful crime of the kind to happen in all America during many years.

I have before me a recent issue of a magazine which claims to have a wide circulation and to be an advocate and exponent of good health, but among the leading articles I find such headings as "Degeneracy of Man" and "Increase of Disease," "Increase of Cancer," "Diseased Animals Used as Food," "Many Suffering from Tape Worm," "Increase of Consumption," "Leprosy on the Increase," "North American Indians Dying Out," "Typhoid Fever in Oysters," and a lot more cheerful subjects as at once ought to prove that the editor is a confirmed dyspeptic and ought to take a few doses of cheerful common sense, and mix it with his articles, and then perhaps he would not create in his readers the morbid mental condition which favors and develops disease.

Let us examine a few of the statements. Is the human race deteriorating? If so, the people must be smaller in stature than formerly. Practical evidence, however, the actual measurement of the bones of our ancestors, as compared with ours, proves that we are larger. It would be hard work to find a company of American soldiers small enough to wear the coats of mail and armor that were worn by men that were called giants in former days. A trial made a few years ago in London proved this to the great astonishment and consternation of the pessimists. Measure the bodies of the mummies found in the east, and the greatest soldiers and kings are found to be smaller in stature than our 17-year-old boys, while the women do not compare favorably with our 15-year-old girls.

Since the sixteenth century the average longevity of the human race has nearly doubled, and in some portions of the civilized world it has more than doubled. Now, regarding the Indians. They are not dying out at all; on the contrary, the census report shows that there are actually more Indians in America to-day than there were when the first whites landed on Plymouth rock.

Science and common sense nearly always conquer disease, and the doctors find it hard work to find new and terrifying names for the same old aches and ails that have always existed. But it must be done if all the great medical colleges are kept up, and the new crop of physicians that are turned loose every year are to make a living. I think, however, that the fear of disease is, in many cases, more terrible than the disease itself, and if people know the simple, honest, homely truths they will suffer less and be much happier. Talk health, not disease; be cheerful, not gloomy; give a kind word, not a frown or a scowl, and God will bless you for it.

Care of the Feet.

Why is it that such important members of our bodies as the feet so often are the victims of abuse? Just because our face and hands are exposed to the public we are very careful to keep them free from blemish, while suffering tortures, perhaps, with our feet by wearing shoes a little too narrow or short, or heels too high, or possibly the shoe too broad, which often causes quite as much trouble as the other defects.

When we come to look into the matter, how very rare is a perfect foot! I know a gentleman over 70 years old whose feet are as free from blemish as a baby's, but such instances are few. So many are annoyed with troublesome calloused spots on the bottom of the feet. This can be very easily helped, if not entirely cured, by using the following simple application twice each week. Procure from any drug store four ounces of commercial acetic acid in an eight ounce bottle. Now, most doctors would say, also add aqua pura Q. S. to fill the bottle. The Home Health Club plan, however, is plain English, and saves money. Aqua pura means "pure water," and Q. S. means quantity sufficient. Therefore, when you get home, fill the bottle with pure water, wash the feet thoroughly twice each week with tepid water, use soap if you desire, dry them well, and then soak the callouses or corns with the acid and water, using a soft cloth. Rub dry with the hands only. The callouses and corns will disappear and will never come back so long as you use the treatment.

STAND ERECT.

Just look at the people you pass on the street or in the cars. Look for the man and woman with an erect carriage, and think of yourself. When you pass a mirror look at yourself. Try and get a profile view. You will soon realize how much better you look by holding your head up and your shoulders back, and by and by the habit will be formed. Really there is nothing that adds so much to a man's or woman's appearance as an erect and graceful carriage.

CLUB NOTES.

Dr. David H. Reeder, Laporte, Ind.—Dear Doctor: Being a subscriber to this paper and having read and benefited by your Home Health Club lectures, I feel inclined to ask a few questions pertaining to my own case. A recent lecture on throat troubles explains considerable of my trouble. For years a cold affects me in the throat and I very easily catch cold, being subject to cold feet. I have been told by doctors that it is catarrh and bronchitis. Lately shortness of breath is getting worse. In the mornings I usually have to hawk and spit until I clear my throat or spit up phlegm, which gives temporary relief. It seems to come from head, throat and nose. The phlegm is a bluish yellow; do not have much hoarseness of voice, but a frequent tickling in throat is common, and the shortness of breath gets worse particularly going upstairs, or up a hill side.

I am 55 years old, have worked in silver mines in early days, and probably been exposed to powder smoke, but not for the last 13 years. The altitude of this place is from 6,000 to 7,000 feet high.

I enjoy good bath outside of the ailments stated, an eat hearty and almost anything that others eat, but might say I am inclined to be a little costive. Have usually very cold feet. Do not do much work. If I should exercise much it would cause shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. Shortness of breath and tightness with tickling in throat and difficulty to spit phlegm seem to be my trouble. I feel convinced that your advice would help me. Very respectfully, O. A.

The asthmatic condition or shortness of breath can to a great extent be overcome by careful treatment. However, I really think you ought to go to a lower altitude. Aside from this, the test you can do will be to follow the course of treatment for asthma outlined in the club lectures, and all of the symptoms you have described, especially the cold feet, will be overcome. This alone will sometimes cure asthma, as the course of treatment given in the book is excellent, while the tissue elements which are lacking ought to be supplied either through food selection or direct. The scientific principles on which the are based is that disease will disappear when the tissue elements, whose lack causes its existence, are supplied. I believe that the shortness of breath described is of an asthmatic nature, although it is partially due to poor circulation, as are the cold hands and feet. You do not give sufficient description of your costiveness to allow of a diagnosis of that ailment, but I am sending you, by mail, a little booklet which will aid you in deciding the matter yourself.

All readers of this paper are at liberty to write for any information pertaining to the subject of health. All communications should be addressed to Dr. David H. Reeder, Laporte, Ind., and must contain name and address in full, and at least four cents in postage.

CZAR CONSIDERS CONFERENCE DATE

Washington Submits Proposition for Meeting of Peace Board.

AMBASSADOR MEYER IS BUSY

United States Minister Conducts Negotiations With the Russian Government, Which Are Expected to Terminate in Satisfactory Manner.

St. Petersburg, June 26.—Negotiations for the peace conference have taken an important step forward, a proposition for the date of the meeting of the plenipotentiaries at Washington having been submitted to Russia and being now under consideration.

The exact date proposed has not been ascertained, but there is reason to suppose that it is some time during the first week or ten days of August, which is about the earliest period at which the Japanese representatives could be expected to reach Washington, allowing reasonable time for the acceptance of the proposal and the interchange of the nominations of plenipotentiaries.

Awaits Czar's Answer.

The emperor's answer is not expected for a day or two, as the diplomatic mills of Russia grind slowly and the foreign office, as one of the secretaries put it, "is not used to your hustling American methods," but it is thought that the date will be satisfactory, as it will give ample time for M. Nelldof, the Russian ambassador at Paris, or other Russian negotiators to reach Washington, and as there will be little preliminary work for them to do until the Japanese terms are submitted.

Meyer Conducts Negotiations.

Whether the proposal regarding the date originated at Tokio or at Washington cannot be learned, but the fact that the negotiations were conducted through Ambassador Meyer may indicate that President Roosevelt perhaps again has stepped to the fore and suggested to the two powers, neither of whom would be willing to take the initiative, a suitable date.

Ambassador Meyer is still exchanging communications with Foreign Minister Lamoriniere by letter, the minister being confined to his apartments in the ministry.

Says Armistice Is Improbable. foreign affairs and the spokesman of foreign affairs and the spokesman of the foreign office, in an interview in the Gazette declares an armistice pending the meeting of the plenipotentiaries is improbable, and he comments on the possibilities of a battle taking place before a conference is held.

The Russian invalid, the army organ, supplies an argument for peace in an estimate of the strength of the Japanese armies, which it places at 550,000 to 600,000 men, including the forces operating in Korea. In the five Japanese armies opposing Gen. Linévitch, exclusive of cavalry and artillery, it estimates that there are from 430,000 to 450,000 bayonets, which give Field Marshal Oyama a decided numerical superiority over the strength usually allowed to Linévitch's army.

Japan's Terms Are Moderate.

The Novoye Vremya prints an interview with its correspondent at Paris had with a Japanese diplomat, who says that while nobody outside of the emperor of Japan and his principal advisers is yet in possession of Japan's terms, he believes that they are moderate and will be acceptable. He adds that Japan is anxious to conclude a lasting peace, but that her attitude is not influenced by the slightest doubt as to her financial ability to continue the war, she having anticipated a much longer and more difficult period of hostilities.

Route Russian Force.

Tokio, June 26.—An official dispatch has been received from the Japanese army headquarters in Manchuria showing a further advance and the rout of the Russian force. The dispatch is as follows:

"The enemy, holding the northwest eminence of Manchouzu, was attacked and dislodged on the afternoon of June 22, but a portion of the enemy holding the hills to the west offered resistance, and the hills finally were taken by assault. Another force of the enemy holding the hills due north was attacked from the front, and we simultaneously resorted to a turning movement from the northeast, intercepting his retreat and causing him heavy loss.

"The enemy in confusion hoisted the red cross flag, but this did not stop our firing, and he fled north in disorder. His strength in cavalry and infantry was some 3,000 men, and several guns. Fifty corpses were left on the field. The enemy's loss was fully 200. Our loss was insignificant."

DOUBLE-HEARTED MAN OFFERS TO SELL BONY

Carpenter, Who Appears in 'Good Health, Awaits Bids From Physicians for His Cadaver.

New York, June 26.—Telegrams and telephone messages in answer to an advertisement to sell his body and two hearts after death have kept A. Durr of New Rochelle busy.

Although it is known that Durr has been offered large sums of money for his body, which is equipped with two hearts, he refuses to state the amounts. He is keeping these a secret in hope that a larger sum might be offered. None of the offers received so far has been accepted nor is it likely that a choice will be made for some days in order to give the entire medical profession of the country a chance to entertain the proposition.

By trade Durr is a carpenter. He is 35 years old, single and the picture of health. He works every day and leads a regular life. Up to a few years ago Durr didn't know that he possessed two hearts. This was discovered when he called a physician to treat him for a slight attack of illness. Since then he has submitted to examinations by many of the most celebrated heart specialists in the country.
